

Dr. Hakeem Oluseyi

Eglin 2017, Kirtland 2018

Dr. Hakeem Oluseyi is a Distinguished Professor of Physics and Space Sciences at the Florida Institute of Technology currently on assignment at NASA Headquarters where he serves as the Space Science Education Lead for NASA's Science Missions Directorate. He has made contributions across diverse fields including astrophysics, cosmology, semiconductor technologies, time-domain informatics, ion propulsion, and science education. Dr. Oluseyi is a renowned science communicator hosting the international hit TV shows Outrageous Acts of Science and How the Universe Works. He's also a science education activist who has worked tirelessly over two decades to improve lives through extending educational and scientific opportunities and fostering understanding between people.